Numb. 12681.

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Saturday September 10, to Tuesday September 13, 1785.

Dublin-Caſtle, September 7, 1785.

THE Houſes of Lords and Commons having reſolved upon Addreſſes to the Lord Lieutenant, the ſame were this Day preſented to His Grace, and, with His Grace's Anſwers, are as follow:

To His Grace Charles Duke of Rutland, Lord Lieutenant General and General Governor of Ireland,

The humble Addreſs of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, in Parliament aſſembled.

May it pleaſe your Grace,

WE His Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, in Parliament aſſembled, beg Leave to approach your Grace at the Concluſion of the preſent Seſſion, with the ſincereſt Expreſſions of Affection to your Perſon and Approbation of your Adminiſtration. Our Experience of your Grace's amiable and manly Qualities, and of your judicious Exertions for the public Welfare, has fulfilled and gratified our Expectations, and excites us to ſolicit and to confide in the Continuance of His Majeſty's Goodneſs, which, by entruſting the Government of this Kingdom to your Grace's Virtues and Abilities, eſſentially conſults the Intereſts and Wiſhes of His People.

We requeſt your Grace will accept our grateful Acknowledgements of the conſpicuous Zeal your Grace ſo early manifeſted to promote the Proſperity of Ireland, by cementing its Connection with Great Britain. No Object can be more important to the Security of the Advantages we already enjoy, or can more contribute to the Harmony, Power and Stability of the Empire, than an equitable Arrangement of Commercial Intercourſe with Great Britain for the mutual Benefit of both Kingdoms. And we ſhall eſteem ourſelves peculiarly fortunate, if we ſhall be enabled to purſue a Plan for this deſirable Purpoſe, under your Grace's Auſpices, with the Concurrence of the Nation, and to crown the Endeavors and augment the Fame of your Grace's Adminiſtration by its ſucceſsful Accompliſhment.

We are throughly convinced, from the whole Tenor of your Grace's Conduct, that your Attention is conſtantly directed to the true Intereſt and Proſperity of this Kingdom; and it ſhall be our anxious Study to render your Government as eaſy and honourable to your Grace, as it is ſatisfactory and advantageous to the Public.

William Watts Gayer,
Edward Gayer, } Cler' Parliament.

To which Addreſs His Grace was pleaſed to give the following Anſwer:

My Lords,

I REQUEST you to accept my ſincere Thanks for this very obliging Addreſs. To ſecure a Continuance of your Confidence and Approbation ſhall be the conſtant Endeavour of my Government, and I know no Method by which I can ſo effectually attain that Gratification, as by promoting to the utmoſt of my Power the eſſential Intereſts and Happineſs of Ireland.

To His Grace Charles Duke of Rutland, Lord Lieutenant General, and General Governor of Ireland,

The humble Addreſs of the Knights, Citizens and Burgeſſes, in Parliament aſſembled.

May it pleaſe your Grace,

WE His Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Ireland, in Parliament aſſembled, beg Leave humbly to expreſs to your Grace, with unaffected Warmth, the Satisfaction which we feel in every Opportunity of teſtifying our Reſpect for your Perſon and our Attachment to your Government. We cannot reflect upon your Grace's conſtant Attention to the Happineſs and Welfare of this Kingdom, without grateful Acknowledgments to His Majeſty, that His Majeſty has been pleaſed to give us ſo acceptable a Proof of His Royal Favour, as the continuing your Grace in the Government of Ireland. The generous Humanity of Diſpoſition, and high Senſe of Honor which diſtinguiſh your Grace's private Character, have, in Conjunction with your hereditary Spirit and Firmneſs, endeared you to the Nation by their happy Influence on your public Conduct.

We humbly deſire your Grace to accept our ſincere Thanks for thoſe Exertions which, in conſequence of our unanimous Addreſs, and in Obedience to His Majeſty's Commands, your Grace employed during the laſt Interval between our Seſſions, in preparing a Plan of Commercial Intercouſe with Great Britain. We are aware that the utmoſt Delicacy and Caution are neceſſary for the Conduct of Meaſures in which the Rights and Intereſts of both Kingdoms are equally concerned, and muſt be equally regarded. And we entertain a juſt Senſe of the Attention your Grace has manifeſted to this Principle, that their Completion ſhould depend upon the public Satisfaction. We truſt, therefore, that the further Conſideration of this Subject will be purſued with that Temper, that Spirit of Conciliation, and that impartial Attention to the general Welfare of the whole Empire, which alone can enſure Permanency nency to any Syſtem, or enable the Wiſdom of Parliament to perfect ſuch an equal, reciprocal, and juſt Arrangement, as may unite both Kingdoms for ever in Intereſt, and preſerve in each a firm Confidence of mutual Affection.

It is our zealous and ardent Wiſh, that your Grace may long continue in the Government of this Kingdom, and contemplate, with growing Pride and Satisfaction, the ſucceſsful Effects of your Government, in the increaſing Affection of a generous People, and in the progreſſive Harmony and Strength of the Empire.

Thos. Ellis, Cler. Parl. Dom. Com.

His Grace's Anſwer.

I THANK you ſincerely for this very honourable and flattering Teſtimony of your Approbation. I prize too highly the Confidence of the Houſe of Commons, not to uſe my anxious and ſtrenuous Endeavours to preſerve it by a conſtant Attention to the true Intereſt of Ireland; they are inſeparably interwoven with thoſe of Great Britain; and whatever Syſtem ſhall tend to promote the mutual Advantage of the two Countries, and to connect them by cloſer Ties of Harmony and Affection cannot fail of having my utmoſt Aſſiſtance.

AFTER having received the above Addreſſes his Grace went in State to the Houſe of Peers, with the uſual Solemnity, and the Commons being ſent for, gave the Royal Aſſent to

An Act for the better carrying into Execution the ſeveral Laws for providing a Maintenance for Pariſh Clerks, and for other Purpoſes.

An Act for directing the Application of Two Thouſand Five Hundred Pounds granted to the Dublin Society for the Encouragement of Manufactures, Arts, and Sciences.

An Act to explain and amend ſeveral Laws now in Force for the Encouragement of Agriculture.

An Act to prevent the Exportation of Hay from this Kingdom for a limited Time.

An Act to explain and amend an Act, paſſed in the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Years of His preſent Majeſty, intituled, An Act for aſcertaining the Qualifications of ſuch Perſons as ſhall take out Commiſſions of the Peace for Counties at large.

An Act for repealing an Act made in the firſt Year of the Reign of his late Majeſty King George the Second, intituled, An Act for regulating the Meaſures made Uſe of in buying and ſelling of Corn, and for promoting Huſbandry in this Kingdom.

An Act to carry into further Effect an Act paſſed in the laſt Seſſion of Parliament in this Kingdom, intituled, An Act for the due accounting for all Money granted for public Works, Charities, and Hoſpitals therein mentioned; and for the ordering a regular Account in future of all Monies entruſted to the Corporation, for carrying on the Inland Navigation; the Truſtees of the Linen Manufactures; the Dublin Society; the Corporation for paving the Streets of Dublin; and for other Purpoſes therein mentioned.

An Act to amend an Act, intituled, An Act for cleanſing the Ports, Harbours, and Rivers of the City of Cork, and of the Towns of Galway, Sligo, Drogheda, and Belfaſt; and for erecting a Ballaſt-Office in the ſaid City, and each of the ſaid Towns.

And to Two Private Bills.

His Grace was then pleaſed to make the following Speech:

My Lords and Gentlemen,

ALTHOUGH the very advanced Seaſon of the Year renders it expedient to conclude the preſent Seſſion of Parliament, I flatter myſelf that the great Object of adjuſting a Commercial Intercourſe with Great Britain has not in vain engaged your Attention, and protracted your Deliberations. — You have repeatedly expreſſed your Wiſhes for the Attainment of an equitable Settlement; and I have the Satisfaction to obſerve, that you continue to be impreſſed with a true Senſe of its Neceſſity and Importance. You will have now the fulleſt Leiſure to purſue your Conſideration of the Subject in private, with that diſpaſſionate Aſſiduity which it ſo eminently deſerves.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Commons,

I am to thank you in His Majeſty's Name for the liberal Proviſion you have made for the Public Service, and the honourable Support of His Majeſty's Government. In your generous Contribution of Supplies, you have not leſs conſulted the Dignity of His Crown than the real Intereſts of His People. The Neceſſity of preventing the Accumulation of Debt, cannot be too ſtrongly inforced; and it ſhall be my earneſt and conſtant Endeavor to render your wiſe Exertions for this ſalutary Purpoſe effectual and permanent.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I feel the trueſt Satisfaction in obſerving the various beneficial Laws which have paſſed during this Seſſion, and the wholeſome Effects of your Wiſdom, in the returning Tranquility and Induſtry, and in the riſing Proſperity of the Kingdom.—The Conduct of Parliament has had its juſt Influence. Their deliberate Spirit, and approved Attention at all Times to the Public Welfare, has inſpired the People with full Confidence in the Legiſlature, and will teach them to conſider their true Intereſts with Calmneſs and Diſcretion.

The nobleſt Object to which I can direct my Attention, and which will ever conſtitute the Happineſs and Pride of my Life, is the Eſtabliſhment of the Proſperity of Ireland, by extending and ſecuring her Commerce, and by cementing and perpetuating her Connexion with Great Britain. And I truſt you will continually cheriſh the Sentiment in the National Mind, that the Stability and Strength of the Empire can alone be ultimately inſured by uniting the Intereſts and Objects of both Kingdoms in a general and equitable Syſtem of reciprocal and common Advantage.

After which the Lord Chancellor, by His Grace's Command, ſaid,

My Lords and Gentlemen,

IT is His Grace the Lord Lieutenant's Pleaſure, that this Parliament be prorogued to Tueſday, the 22d Day of November next, to be then here holden: And this Parliament is accordingly prorogued to Tueſday the 22d Day of November next.
